WHEN A MAMMOTH RETURNS

DIRECT EDITION

SPAZ ARTER, DREW STRUZAN

After ten long years, the iron-fisted rule of DOCTOR ROBOTNIK over the planet MOBIUS was believed to have ended! Now the villain has returned to wreak havoc once more, but there are many who are willing to stand against him in the fight for freedom. The bravest among them is a brash, blue blur who just happens to be the fastest thing alive! ARCHIE COMICS AND SEGA PRESENT...

SONIC-GRAMS

THIS JUST IN!

HELLO AGAIN,
"my young padawan learners." You know, when that line was spoken in the movie, it just didn't sound like convincing dialogue, but I accept it because it's Star Wars. Besides, I figure that's how The Jedi would've spoken to each other based on their education and seclusion in the temple for their developing years. I obviously have too much time on my hands to think about these things. Anyway, the last two months' discussion concludes in...

INFLUENCES, Episode III
When I first took over the Sonic comic, I was amazed at some of the parallels between the Star Wars (SW) story and DIC's Saturday Animation version of Sonic. Though not intentional, obviously the animation and comic book writers as well as myself as editor were influenced by the greatest space fantasy ever told. Based on their storyline, which the comic book adopted, I saw the following similarities:

Sonic: It's the Freedom Fighters Vs. Dr. Robotnik's planetary empire.
SW: It's the Rebellion Vs. The Galactic Empire

Other comparisons: Sonic - Han Solo; Princess Sally - Princess Leia; Dr. Robotnik - Emperor/Darth Vader; Antoine - C3PO; Antor - R2D2; (yeah I know these last two are a stretch and I still haven't found a comparison for Bunnie); and as far as Knuckles - at first I saw comparison with Luke but now he's more like Anakin Skywalker.

Just like the rebellion winning the war in SW Episode VI, The Freedom Fighters in Sonic #50 also won the battle. The logical conclusion to The FF's reconstruction of Mobotropolis and the return of the Kingdom of Knothole in the issues afterward remind me of the rebellion's efforts to restore the Republic in the books that followed. Though both are completely unrelated, I found it fun to find such connections. Well, you know what they say is the best form of flattery.

Anyway, enough of SW.... I'm sure you've had your fill from me. Therefore until next month...
Catch you on the flip side! JR

Hey, it's jg again. Not only is Mammoth Mogul pulling double duty, so am I. Ken had some more letters for Sonic #110 that I'm going to answer, so here we go again...

Dear Sonic-Grams,

I thought issue #110 was great. I had no idea how Sonic and Tails were going to pull this one off, saving the environment and all. I liked it because it was a little longer than some of the other newer comics (106, 107, 108, etc.). I'm glad they are getting longer because it started to seem that the older comics were more interesting.

I DO NOT think the Sonic Comics should look like anime, Japanese style, or anything like that; I like the way the artwork looks now.

I also have a few question, 1) because the nukes hit Robotropolis, we know that Robotropolis and Mobotropolis are gone and that Robotnik is going to transfer his memory to another body, what is to become of Snivley? 2) Also, you said that Art H. and Steven B. were coming back to do some art for you, but what will they be doing: the Sonic Main story or another story with different characters? 3) When will the whole gang (Sonic, Tails, Sally, Bunnie, Antoine, Rotor) join up again? 4) It says that Shadow and Rouge are appearing in an upcoming comic, so does that mean doing the Sonic Adventure 2 adaptation?

Keep up the AWESOME work, everyone. I loved your 7 pages of fame, Spaz.

Gotta' juice, Isiah Otten, 12

Thanks for your comments. It seems that everyone is completely divided in half on the anime art issue. We definitely haven't heard the last of this. On to the questions: 1) As you may have guessed by now, Robo-Snively has been given the same "perks" as his master, Dr. Robotnik. Expect Robo-Snively to download into a new Snively body soon. 2) By now, you've seen Steven return in Sonic #111 and Art's in Sonic #112. As for future Sonic art chores, they are juggling issues along with Ron and J. Axer. Also, Art is currently finishing a special Knuckles story that will make you cry. 3) Soon. 4) No, we're not doing the adaptation, but the characters that made their debut in Sonic Adventure 2 will be making a comeback in different stories coming up.

Dear Sonic-Grams,

Wow. I just received issue # 110 in the mail today and I realized something: I've been a fan of yours for nearly 10 years, if it's your 10th Anniversary in 2003, started reading sometime in 1993, in Kindergarten or First Grade, so I guess that kinda' proves my point. I am now a sophomore in High school, and I am still a huge fan of the comic.

I have to say, I love Spaz, J. Axer, and Dawn Best. The work of Ron Lim, however, seems a little rushed to me. Some panels are great, but then there are others that appear, well, a bit hurried in the making. The storylines are great, but BRING KNUX BACK! (Y'know, I haven't heard anyone refer to Knuckles as "Knux" in a long time...what happened?) I love the guy more than Sonic! Please! Bring him back! He wasn't even in issue #110 (even though I did appreciate Spaz' gallery)! Okay, I'm not gonna' keep wasting precious letter space with my rambling...Keep up the good work!

Celene Night

Wow is right. Thank you for being such a long-time fan. Another long time fan since Sonic #13 that deserves special mention (though we did not have room for her letter this month) is Knuckles! You know who you are. Speaking of Knuckles, we hear your request to bring him back loud and clear. Knux makes a return with this issue, Yeah, he's still green... however, the only thing I'll say about that is that he won't be for very much longer...

To The People From Up There,

I don't imagine that you get much mail from New Zealanders (Yeah, that little country beside Australia that stole the America's Cup in sailing.), so I thought it would be interesting for a change. First of all, we get our issues quite a bit later here than over there, so I might mention things that are in the distant past. One thing I would like to mention concerns a piece from one of the 'Downunda Freedom Fighters' segments from issue #105, which reads - 'In the beginning was the dreamtime, when all was new, kangaroos, kiwis and dingos walked in the virgin landscape...etc, etc' -- Just a bit of useless trivia, but you guys do realize that Kiwis have nothing to do with Aussie, right? They come from New Zealand. But that aside, I think your comic is fantastic, a bit of welcome nostalgia from the old SatAM series that I loved so much. Yes, I know it is a bit critical, but Ron Lim; I don't like the way you draw Sally and Tails." Everyone else is fantastically drawn, but please, for the love of kiwis, get someone like J.Axer to draw these two. Also, I'd like to point out that the stories are getting really hyped up, Knuckles included, which is awesome. One question before I finish - in issue #108, why isn't the old Robotnik roboticized while he's fighting with the new one?

Cheers, Brendan West,
Hamilton, New Zealand

We love letters from our international readers. This one is no exception. Thanks for the info. We could say that we goofed.... or we could say that Mobius' Downunda may or may not have the same indigenous species as Earth's Australia and/or New Zealand. Either way, the origins of Mobius will be revealed during the 10th Anniversary of the Sonic comic so stay with us. As to your one question, Robotnik can turn "that feature" on or off. He doesn't automatically roboticize by touch if he does not wish to.

Hey Sonic Pieps,

I have a couple questions. I have not bought a Sonic comic in a while, and I'm a bit behind. A.) Why is Knuckles green all of a sudden? Was he soaked in a strange mutating liquid or something? Or is the green dude an imposter? B.) How come those kooks, Snively and Robotnik are active when roboticized, but every one else acts like a bag of hammers? C.) Why do most Echidnas wear clothes? Sonic and co. don't! D.) Do your Sonic subscriptions include Sonic #1? I really want one!

A way past cool fan,
Kenneth Charters

Glad to have you back, Kenneth. Let's answer these questions so you can be on the same page with us: A.) Knux's powers grew so out of control he's become a living Chaos Emerald. The fact that he's green reflects that. B.) Dr. R is in a robot body whose "memory files" he downloads to a new body after the old one is destroyed. As to free will when going through the roboticized process, one has to want it willingly, like Snively. Since many fight the process, no free will. What they haven't figured out is why Robians can move and Overlanders freeze like statues. C.) Echidnas like to think they have a better sense of fashion. D.) If no longer offered, than it is no longer available. The fact that it's sold out, though, shows how popular our Blue Blur has become over the years. That makes my heart feel good. See you in thirty...
